36th Annual Ram Sale at Filer Moves 590 Rams at Total Price of $64,414.44

A total of 590 rams were sold Wednesday, at a slightly stronger market than last year, at the Idaho Wool Growers association's 36th annual ram sale at Filer. Total sales for the day amounted to $64,414.44. Average price paid for rams was $109.18. Highest price paid for one animal was $675. A Suffolk stud. More than 300 persons jammed into the livestock building at the Filer fairgrounds to witness the all-day event which will reflect a significance on all other ram sales to be held in Idaho, Utah, Oregon and Washington during the remainder of the year.

Military Lashed for Withdrawal of Land

STOCKTON, Calif., Aug. 8 (AP)—The president of the National Wool Growers association yesterday attacked what he called excessive use of public lands by U. S. military services. Don Clyde, Heber City, Utah—speaking before the California Wool Growers association convention here—claimed that all the public land withheld by the military and no longer available for grazing or other private use would make a 14-mile-wide strip reaching from Washington, D. C., to San Francisco. "We are not unpatriotic and we want our defenses strong," Clyde said, "but it is unreasonable for the military to take this much land."

Problems for Wool Grower Are Discussed

The annual Wool Growers' association ram sale was climaxed Wednesday night with a dinner meeting of members at the Twin Falls Turf club where officers of the association discussed problems confronting the sheep raising business during the forthcoming year.

Andrew D. Little, Howe, president, presided over the meeting. During the course of the business he praised the growers for putting up two and one-half million dollars to promote their own projects, wool and lambs.

He also spoke on the continual withdrawal of Idaho land for any one specific use. He stated that trans-mountain as the state is less than 20 percent privately owned it is most important to maintain the economy of hundreds of communities by a common use of all lands.

M. E. Clear, secretary of the association, commented on labor problems within the sheep industry and stated it was necessary to use contract labor because there was not a sufficient number of local people who would work with sheep during the entire year.

He said it would be a comfort to know that "our labor problem and all phases of the industry were definitely decided upon their own merits." He stated that uniformed pressure groups who do not understand the economy that makes up the western states propose ideas that are completely unsound.

Other speakers during the evening included Robert Blackstock, Filer, and Dr. T. Donald Bell, animal husbandry department, University of Idaho.

During the afternoon officers and directors met at the Park hotel in an executive meeting and discussed a program for the Idaho Wool Growers convention to be held at Boise, Nov. 17, 18 and 19.

Young Marine Makes Claims Of Being Hit

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 8 (AP)—A 17-year-old marine recruit maintained today he was mistreated so badly by a sergeant and a first lieutenant that an appendectomy incision was opened.

The recruit, Robert D. Gaines, Los Angeles, was picked up by sheriff's deputies yesterday while attempting to hitchhike a ride on U. S. highway 91. He said he had gone AWOL from San Diego naval hospital.

"Too Much"

Deputies quoted Gaines as saying, "When the drill instructor hits you in the groin right after you've had an appendectomy operation, and it feels open, that's too much."

A spokesman at the San Diego marine recruit depot said Gaines did not recall making the statement. He said Gaines underwent an operation July 10 and was returned to duty July 27.

Works Bill Wins Senate Approval

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—The senate today passed an $884,151,323 public works appropriations bill. The vote was 85-1.

The bill carries money to finance construction of army engineer and reclamation bureau water projects for the year started July 1.

The measure is the first to pass either the house or senate this year carrying a larger appropriation than President Eisenhower had budgeted.

Eisenhower had recommended $887,453,000 for public works.

Flood Control Project OK'd

GOODING, Aug. 8 (AP)—Word has been received that the proposed Gooding river flood control project has been approved by the chief of army engineers at an estimated cost of $11,500.

In a letter to the mayor, Myron Page, Jr., corps of engineers, district office, Walla Walla, said he received notice that the snagging and clearing project covering the Little Wood river has been approved subject to some work by local authorities and assurance of maintenance.

The work as planned consists of clearing the channel of trees and brush above and below Gooding. Two minor channel changes consisting of two short cutoffs, one below the diversion works and one immediately above town.

District office plan to be in Gooding within a month or two to obtain details. Work on the project probably will begin late this fall.

News Bulletins

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—The federal reserve board today raised its discount rate to four member banks from 3 to 3 1/2 percent. A federal reserve spokesman said the increase was to close a gap between the going market interest rate and that charged by the federal reserve system.

BRIGHAM CITY, Aug. 8 (AP)—Tons of dirt completely buried a construction worker here today, but he was freed within 15 minutes by fellow workmen and firemen digging with bare hands. Marvin Kline, 38, was held for observation following the cave-in. Kline was working in a 10-foot deep sewer trench when he was buried as the sides collapsed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—The defense department today ordered a 10 to 20 percent cut in petroleum purchases for the current fiscal year. The slash was ordered as a further step in carrying out Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's orders to keep military spending within $3 billion dollars for the year that began on July 1.

Khrushchev Slams Door on Unification Of Germany, Boasts of Russian Power

BERLIN, Aug. 8 (AP)—Soviet communist party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev in a bellicose major policy speech today closed the door on German reunification and said war would bring atomic devastation to the United States.

Khrushchev had only warnings and reproaches for the West in a two-hour speech to the East German parliament.

He boasted that the United States is within range of "present" nuclear rockets and cautioned the London disarmament conference to remember this before selecting Soviet proposals.

He compared West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to Hitler.

He accused the West of blocking disarmament and plotting to convert all of Germany into an aggressive NATO base.

He offered again to pull all Soviet troops out of eastern Europe if the United States withdraws its troops to America. But he said the United States would not dare accept this.

He flatly rejected so-called free elections for German reunification, and endorsed instead the East German plan calling for East-West German talks and a loose confederation of the two German states.

This plan has been rejected by the West many times but Khrushchev said it was the "only solution."

His speech was considered the harshest since the Kremlin shakeup at the end of June.

"With the present development of rocket weapons no nation is safe from attack," he said. "U. S. statesmen should think about this."

"Distance will not protect any nation from the effects of atomic and hydrogen bombs. Those statesmen should think about this who reject disarmament agreements."

Khrushchev's blistering remarks on Soviet weapon development were an old tune, but he offered a new variation in linking rocket progress to the London disarmament talks.

One Russian demand in London is for a total ban on nuclear weapons, which the West rejects as unenforceable.

Senate's Version of Civil Rights Bill Goes to House For Likely Compromise

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—The house temporarily sidestepped a decision today on what to do about the civil rights bill. The bill, which the senate passed last night on a 72-18 vote, was laid on the speaker's desk to give house leaders more time to sound out sentiment and consider compromise proposals. For the time being, no attempt will be made to send the measure to a senate-house conference to resolve differences with the bill which the house passed 286-126 on June 18. The house bill, closely following administration recommendations, is broader in scope and more stringent in enforcement provisions.

Huge Plane Limping Toward Island Base

HONOLULU, Aug. 8 (AP)—A huge C-97 military air transport plane carrying 57 passengers and a crew of 10 limped toward Hilo, Hawaii, today with two of its four engines dead. The air force said the double-deck plane—military version of the civilian Stratocruiser—was en route to Hickam air force base on Oahu (Honolulu) island from Travis air force base, near San Francisco. When trouble developed, its destination was shifted to Hilo, an Hawaii island, some what nearer. It was reported about 300 miles from Hilo at 12:30 p.m. MST.

Appointed

JAMES H. CAIRNS, former district highway engineer at Shoshone, has been appointed assistant state highway engineer.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Rep. Emmet F. Byrne, R., Ill., said today he didn't know a Washington legislative service had credited him with having the best economy record of the Cook county, Ill., congressional delegation until a colleague told him so.

"I don't subscribe to the service," Byrne said, "it's too expensive."

BOISE, Aug. 8 (AP)—Idaho State Highway Engineer C. Bryce Bennett said today he had appointed James H. Cairns, 59, Boise, to be assistant state highway engineer.

Bennett said Cairns had been employed with the highway department for 26 years and had served as survey and plans engineer prior to his new appointment.

Cairns went to work for the department at Lewiston in 1931 as resident engineer and in 1943 became district maintenance engineer. In 1953 he was promoted to district engineer at Shoshone and came to Boise later as survey and plans engineer.

Cairns attended Washington State college for two years and was graduated from Colorado School of Mines in 1923. He is a veteran of World war I, having served in the U. S. navy. He is past president of both the North Idaho chapter and the Southcentral Idaho chapter of the Society of Professional Engineers.

Cairns is married and has two sons attending the University of Idaho.

Dio Balks at Questions by Senate Group

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Johnny Dio, described as king of New York's labor rackets, refused today to answer questions of senate investigators.

Dio, a stocky, compact man with a deeply lined face and dark wavy hair, invoked the fifth amendment, claiming his answers might tend to incriminate him.

His testimony was interrupted by a series of roll call votes in the senate immediately after he took the stand before the senate rackets committee and swore to tell the truth. During the recess caused by the roll calls, Capitol police stood between Dio and the crowd jammed into the hearing room.

Dio was the first witness at the committee's afternoon session. During the morning session he visited the hearing room briefly but left hurriedly. In so doing he straightened a photographer, Stanley Tretick of United Press News photos.

The committee called Dio from a New York jail cell where he awaits sentencing on a conspiracy conviction in a labor racketeering-bribery case.

Hoffa Link

The committee wanted to ask whether he worked with Teamsters union Vice President James R. Hoffa in a swing election for control of the Teamsters in New York.

Dio is also indicted in the case of the blind labor columnist Victor Rold, but his trial has been indefinitely postponed because two other witnesses against him turned silent after first indicating they would talk.

Earlier three henchmen of Dio's balked when the committee tried to trace their careers in "paper locals" of the Teamsters' union.

"The doctors continued to be pleased by Mrs. Eisenhower's progress. She again slept throughout most of the night with but few interruptions."

Montana Solon Claims West Unemployment Is 'Alarming'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Senator Murray, D., Mont., today pleaded with Congress to enact legislation to combat an "alarming" unemployment problem in the West.

Murray said in a speech prepared for senate delivery that unemployment is serious in Montana and a real problem in all the Northwest states.

He urged congress to approve legislation providing "a just lead and incentive program" and "agricultural program which will benefit instead of bankrupt the farmers and ranchers," a tungsten-purchase program, and a construction start on Yellowstone dam in Montana.

The senator said wheat farmers are "caught tight in the price-cost squeeze." He said the squeeze works this way: In 1952 farmers could sell 931 bushels of wheat at $2.00 a bushel and buy a tractor for $1,200, while today the same tractors are up $200 and wheat is down 15 cents, so the

Parachutists Are Dropped To Halt Fire

HAILEY, Aug. 8—Eight smokejumpers parachuted into a rock-crowned mountain area, swept by heavy ground winds, where a spot fire threatened to develop into dangerous proportions about 11:45 a.m. Thursday. The jump was made while more than 450 ground firefighters fought to hold their lines as a vicious forest fire near Galena summit entered its sixth day. Gene Rogers, forest service dispatcher, said Thursday morning the crews were holding their lines in most of the areas. The ring of fire has an 18-mile circumference and spot fires continued to menace additional timber.

Smokejumpers from McCall have relieved some of the firefighters called home for urgent matters. Forest service officials expressed concern for the eight who jumped Thursday morning to squelch the spot fire at the head of Rainbow creek. The rocky area into which they parachuted was swept by heavy ground winds, making the jump perilous.

Chosen

Neil H. McElroy, president of Procter and Gamble, was named Wednesday by President Eisenhower to succeed Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense. The appointment must be confirmed by the senate. (NEA telephoto)

McElroy, 52, president of Procter and Gamble since 1954, was chosen by the president to succeed Charles E. Wilson, 67, whose formal resignation was sent to the White House.

"He's a fine man," Senator Knowland, R., Calif., senate Republican leader, said of McElroy. "As far as I know there will be no trouble about confirmation."

No date was announced for McElroy's start.

Quick Action Predicted for Ike Appointee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Senate leaders said today that Neil H. McElroy, soap company executive, should win speedy confirmation as secretary of defense.

But he must wait at least a week and agree to dispose of his holdings in some corporations that now have defense and government contracts.

The nomination of McElroy, 52, president of Procter and Gamble since 1954, was announced yesterday afternoon after a long delay.

President Eisenhower had described him as "one of the most capable men and the highest type of people that I know in the country."

Russ Colonel Will Face Spy Count in N.Y.

EDINBURGH, Tex., Aug. 8 (AP)—U. S. Deputy Marshal Gerald Jones left Edinburg today for New York with Russian Col. Rudolf Ivanovich Abel, who was indicted yesterday by a Brooklyn grand jury as a master spy.

He left with Abel, 55, without even telling other deputy marshals what he was doing. Deputy U. S. Marshal George Bennett said he did not know whether Jones left by automobile or plane.

Jones took him away between 10 and 11 a.m. Abel agreed to immediate removal to New York for trial a few hours after his indictment was handed up yesterday. He can be sent to the electric chair if he is convicted.

ATONCE LAST WEEK, New York, Aug. 8 (AP)—The atomic energy commission today postponed for 24 hours the atomic test slated for dawn this morning. Unfavorable winds were blamed for the delay.

Keep the White Flag of Safety Flying

Now two days without a traffic death in our Magic Valley.

8 Parachutists Jump on Peak To Fight Fire

ing water from the creek into plastic swimming pools. The pools were stepped up the side of the hill to where new fires were appearing.
A count of men in the light Wednesday showed 382 workers and 75 supervisory personnel. The terrain runs from a 25 to 80 per cent slope, Rodgers said.
During the five days of fighting the men have dug nearly 10 miles of trench. Wednesday they succeeded in getting a trench down Rainbow creek where some of the worst fires have been. Rodgers said the men have worked hard and seem to be holding the blaze.
He said it is "still not controlled, but contained." High winds and gaps in the trenches keep the situation dangerous. He said battling the spot fires has consumed much of men's time and has prevented their devoting full attention to the main blaze.
Forest service equipment warehouses in the area have been exhausted supplying shovels, axes, rations and other items to the men. Additional equipment has been flown in from California warehouses.
Rodgers said the crewmen had become discouraged when the flames leaped a firebreak two days ago. The men thought they had it under control then.
He said they have a "second head of steam up now and are confident they can whip the fire."
Wednesday night a conference was being held at camp two. Attending the meeting were Boyd Rasmussen and Alvin Wright, Ogden fire specialists; J. L. Bery, Sawtooth national forest supervisor, who flew back to the scene from Twin Falls Wednesday morning; J. H. Peterson, administrative assistant at Twin Falls; Maurice Sikes and W. G. Carlson.
It was reported Wednesday night that Rasmussen was perturbed over the fact this was the second fire of this type this year. The one near Boise on Oub creek was similar. A study of the fires is planned and those now fighting the Galena summit fire will be picked as specialists to go to fires in other sections of the country.

Era Ends for Comedy Fans; 'Babe' Passes

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 8 (AP)—The movie industry sadly realized today that the death of retired movie comedian Oliver (Babe) Hardy has brought to a close one of the greatest eras in comedy.
The "fall guy" half of the Laurel and Hardy slapstick team died yesterday following a prolonged illness due to a paralytic stroke. The portly Hardy, at 85 had wasted away to 145 pounds from the 350 he weighed over two decades of acting.
"An era is ended in comedy, and a worldwide audience of deeply loyal fans has lost a friend," one associate said.
Hardy won popularity even while living in retirement at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Monnie L. Jones. In recent years old Laurel and Hardy films brought laughter to a nationwide television audience. Masonic funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 1 p.m. at Pierce brothers Beverly Hills mortuary. Following cremation, interment will be at the Garden of Hope of Alhambra Memorial park in North Hollywood.
Laurel Comments
Among those taking the news of Hardy's death the hardest was his long-time partner Stan Laurel, now 67 and himself recovering from a stroke.
"What is there to say," Laurel said sadly. "It shocked me, of course. Babe was like a brother. That's the end of the history of Laurel and Hardy."

WILSON'S SUCCESSOR

Nell McElroy, the 52-year-old president of the Procter and Gamble soap company, looks like an ideal man to fill the shoes of Charley Wilson, outgoing secretary of defense.

McElroy is full of energy and in industrialist of proven ability. He set up the various soap divisions of P and G so that they would be in direct, heated competition with one another. The result: The corporation's business zoomed.

As chairman of the White House conference on education he demonstrated that he had that special personality touch and sixth sense for sniffing out political booby-traps. These are essential attributes for a successful top Washington official. This education conference had dangerous, explosive political and personal possibilities for McElroy.

At least half the delegates to the meeting came armed with some kind of harpoon to hurl at him or the President. But by being honest, direct and businesslike he ended up with a pat on the back from everyone there, and with some work accomplished. The latter is rare and not really expected from education conferences.

It's good that McElroy has this nice collection of talents because there is no such thing as a boss of the Pentagon having too many talents. In fact, before Charley Wilson came along it was believed by many serious students of government that this defense post was too big for one man.

Charley proved that one man could run the three services and survive reasonably well. But it was frequently a harrowing experience. To say that McElroy is moving into a hornet's nest is to minimize the hazards of his future employment. Recent reports indicate that the U. S. is more ahead of the Russians in the development of new weapons than most people have assumed. But that's where any optimism about his working conditions ceases.

At his last press conference Wilson revealed that the defense department was about half way through cutting next year's program by about 2 1/2 billion dollars to meet budget slashes made by congress. This means McElroy's first job will be the demanding, agonizing task of cutting back programs.

Inherent in this killer of a problem is the big inter-service feud, which even Wilson never quite settled.

The army believes that its future existence is threatened unless it gets missiles with more than a 200-mile range. It will leap on McElroy to get him to change Wilson's order limiting it to the 200-mile missile. This leap will be something to behold, too.

The need to cut programs is all tangled up in this missile fight. And the air force and navy will be just as adamant as the army that its programs can't be curtailed by one cent.

If McElroy gets by this one with his sanity intact it's possible he'll be ready for such headaches as adjusting the defense program to constantly rising costs and continuing pressure from congress for reduced expenditures.

COOPERATIVE COMPETITION

America is noted for the spirited competition among its countless economic enterprises. For all the laws that govern it, the U. S. corporation still displays a rugged individuality unmatched in the world.

It may perhaps be a surprise to learn, then, that a good many huge projects undertaken by American engineering and business interests have only been possible through a high degree of cooperation among many companies.

A New York Times business writer, Richard Rutter, recently ticked off a partial list of projects thus constructed. They included the St. Lawrence seaway, our new military bases in Spain, and in the more distant past, Hoover dam and the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge.

According to Rutter, the indications are that none of these big developments would have been brought off successfully without a "corporate pooling of brains, experience, money and sweat."

But because it has succeeded in these notable instances and scores of others, the so-called joint venture project is truly coming into its own. Major U. S. firms, many high on any roster of leading construction and engineering outfits, are being attracted to the idea.

The advantages summarized:

Each firm taking part has lower total costs, as well as a greatly reduced risk. It's easier to arrange financing. And a broad variety of skills and experience are drawn together to achieve the chosen objective. Singly, or possibly even in pairs, the participating companies would be unlikely to have the full measure required.

It is worth noting that after a combine has accomplished its purpose it is promptly dissolved. Profits, if any, are distributed on a pro rata basis, the machinery and other equipment is sold, and the various participants go about their future business singly—in competition with each other.

Americans can be grateful for the success of the joint venture system, not only because of the results achieved in the shape of massive projects completed, but because it demonstrates the flexibility of the free economy. Wedded basically to competition, American enterprisers can, it is clear, cooperate when necessary in a manner that ought to cause great envy in the Kremlin—where sit the alleged masters of cooperative activity.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Two relatively young and solemn members of the United States senate are grimly seeking the Republican and Democratic presidential nominations in 1960, although they have not announced their ambition publicly or privately, or proclaimed their colleagues on the senate floor and observers in the press gallery, who have come to know the White House symptoms, agree that the two have a common political date and destination.

The two men, of course, are Sen. William F. Knowland, minority leader of the senate, and Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Both are dedicated men, who take their jobs and problems with unusual seriousness. They are two of the hardest working men on Capitol Hill. Luckily, they are wealthy, and can afford to finance research and writing staffs unavailable to many house and senate members.

Should the two oppose each other in 1960, it will be an exciting political drama. It will be ancient Massachusetts against comparatively young and blossoming California, with the varied interests of these two sections in combat. It will be, perhaps, the first presidential contest involving two millionaire families. It will be a struggle between two aristocratic urbanites.

KNOWLAND'S EARNEST ACTIVITY—For a man who has announced that he will not run for re-election, Senator Knowland is showing more interest and performing more actively than should be expected of a politician fed-up with public life and service. He has been earnest in obtaining a strong civil rights bill than President Eisenhower or any member of the White House entourage, including Vice President Nixon.

Senator Knowland, quite obviously, is using his position on Capitol Hill in his later years in office to strengthen himself nationally. Although he has generally supported the administration on domestic matters, he has an excellent record in that respect.

SENATOR SEEMS EAGER FOR 1960 NOMINATION—In handling the administration's legislative program, especially the civil rights bill, Knowland has overshadowed a prospective opponent for the 1960 nomination, Vice President Nixon, a fellow Californian. The senator has also put another obstacle in his path to the White House in the shade—namely, Gov. "Goody" Knight of California.

Make no mistake about it, "Bill" Knowland wants that 1960 nomination, and it may be difficult to deny it to him, providing he runs and wins as Governor of California in the interim.

KENNEDY NOW LEADS DEMOCRATS' FIELD—Largely because of a lack of serious opposition, Senator Kennedy is conceded to lead the field on the Democratic side. Such an astute and well-traveled individual as James A. Farley, although he mentions such possibilities as Senator Symington of Missouri and Governor Meyner of New Jersey, usually lists Senator Kennedy as the best bet.

It is a fact that few young senators—young in years and in congressional service—have made such a favorable impression as the Bostonian. He has only two arguments against him—his relative youth and his religion. In view of the "Al" Smith defeat in 1928, it is questionable whether the Democrats would dare to nominate a Roman Catholic.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED SINCE 'AL' SMITH'S DAY—However, times have changed. Senator Kennedy has none of the delightful liabilities that hurt "Al," such as the brown derby, the East side accent and the Tammany cigar.

Anyway, despite the many hurdles in the Presidential race, and despite the personal and political vicissitudes which the next three years may bring, the politicians' tentative 1960 race is Knowland versus Kennedy.

VIEW OF OTHERS

OUR ECONOMICAL SOLONS

Taxpayers may recall there was some strong talk in congress about economy a few weeks after the President's history-making budget was submitted.

The subject comes up occasionally when foreign aid and other controversial appropriations are under consideration. It was mentioned in a secondary way last week when the house killed the federal school construction and aid program.

Economy is taking a holiday in the construction program under way on the capitol grounds. Congress plans to spend more than 150 million dollars for more elbow room and more "gracious living." In addition, 40 million will be spent on the face-lifting project on the east front of the capitol, a job that has been strongly condemned from an artistic viewpoint by some leading architects and artists. And a bill is pending to spend an additional five millions for more land on capitol hill for future expansion. So reports Congressional Quarterly.

Some American children may have no schoolhouses to go to next year but the 76 capitol pages will have their education quarters taken care of. The new $23,400,000, seven-story white marble senate office building, now under construction, will include classrooms, library, laboratory and gymnasium for the errand boys. It also will include a 500-seat auditorium, and the 40 or so senators to get offices there will have at least a five-room outside suite with three lavatories. Each senator's private office will be 21.5 feet square and 22 suites will have reception rooms.

The present senate office building, where senators and their staffs are "crowded" into four-room suites, will be remodeled and refurbished. There is no cost limitation on the remodeling program or for furnishings. Each senator may select his own, including an $800 vibrator chair with three switches.

The house already has two office buildings but 100 million dollars will be spent for an additional one, to be four stories above ground and three to five stories below, and for remodeling the present structures. The new building will have room in the basement for 1,600 cars, will provide committee rooms and 170 three-room office suites. (Congressmen only have two rooms now.) To provide office space during remodeling, a 1 1/2 million dollar hotel nearby will be condemned and taken over.

Representative Boland of Massachusetts said that congressmen need another room "as much as they need another hole in their heads," and Congressman Hoffman of Michigan, said with admirable restraint: "We want economy except when it affects us."

Economy is something many congressmen apply when they don't like a program.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Nobody's Business

No one can say that Abe McGrover Goff, the eager solicitor of the postoffice department, does not have the courage of his convictions. Mr. Goff told the house government information subcommittee that according to his observation "the ordinary citizen has the reaction that public officials tell too much about the public business rather than too little." Obviously Mr. Goff subscribes to this belief. The operations of his office, including his activities on behalf of the various censorship, suppression and delayed delivery tangents of the postoffice on occasion have seemed a convincing demonstration of such philosophy.

It is a little presumptuous to say conclusively what is the reaction of the "ordinary citizen," but that citizen may justifiably have some cause for concern over this sort of attitude on the part of a public official. We are glad that Representative Moss entered a vigorous disagreement, noting the tendency of officials to tell too little—that might be embarrassing and too much that might be favorable.

The postoffice is quick enough to appeal for public support when it has some pet fish to fry. Mr. Goff may believe with Cromwell's Surveyor of the Press, Sir Roger L'Estrange, that full information makes the multitude too familiar with the actions of public officials and gives it "not only an itch but a colourable right to be meddling with the government." The postoffice, however, has little function of a security nature, and its whole reason for existence is public service. Perhaps Mr. Goff would like to cancel the public's rights on one of his automatic machines and operate behind a barred, special-handling window. But is it not an absurdity worthy of inscription somewhere, really, that the public can be told too much about the public business?—Washington (D.C.) Post.

IT'LL NEVER DIE!

Sir:

That smart-alec letter from "Gus Q. Phan" went against the grain. Phan quite obviously is no fan, not of baseball, anyway.

Baseball will never die around here. It might lose a little money every year, but there are enough solid baseball lovers ready to take up the slack to guarantee baseball will go right on for Magic Valley.

If this guy Phan would quit paning and start going to games, he would be doing his little bit.

And just to prove that baseball isn't going to die in Twin Falls, I have it on pretty good authority that the major leagues have agreed to give the Cowboys enough money to bring them out of the red. Does that look like baseball is dying here?

WHY?

Dear Pot Shots:

Go ahead, just keep it up. But you guys at the T-N had better study up right carefully on all the traffic regulations and drive like you'd written the book.

I'd sure hate to be in your shoes if some cop sees one of you guys driving 26 miles an hour in a 25 mile an hour area!

ANENT NOISE

Potly:

Liked that note from "Nearly Deaf" concerning the din hereabouts from auto horns. If I were to take a wash tub and go down and sit on the corner of Main and Shoshone beating on the tub with a hammer, I wouldn't make nearly so much noise.

But is there any doubt in anyone's mind what would happen to me—and fast?

Yet it seems to be perfectly okay to drive a car up and down Main blasting away with the horn. For the life of me, I don't savvy some of the reasoning—or lack of it—behind these things.

WASHINGTON

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A fight for Hawaiian shipping rights between two U. S. companies illustrates many of the problems in the current round of congressional investigations into overconcentration in American industry, freedom of competition and regulation of monopolies.

This case hangs on a recent federal maritime board decision denying Pacific Far East line the right to have ships on its unsubsidized U. S.-Guam-Japan route call at Hawaii three times a month to pick up or discharge cargo.

Matson Navigation company has provided service between the U. S., Pacific coast and Hawaii for over 70 years. With an investment of 35 million dollars, it has built up its business to the point that it now handles 95 per cent of the traffic.

Since Hawaii is American territory, this route is considered "coastwise" shipping. As such it is entitled to certain protection under the American merchant marine act.

Matson does not receive a subsidy for its Hawaii service, though it is subsidized on its wholly owned Oceanic Steamship company route to Australia, Pacific Far East line.

But refusing to be stopped by the maritime board's two-to-one opinion against it, Pacific Far East promptly filed application for review and took the case to court in two suits.

In District of Columbia federal court Pacific Far East line has filed suit against the three maritime board members individually, with Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks thrown in as a fourth defendant, for supporting a "near perfect monopoly." In district court of appeals, Pacific Far East line is suing to have the board's decision reversed.

There have been only three such suits filed against the reorganized maritime board. In 1953 American President lines sued to amend a subsidy granted to Pacific Far East, American President lines lost. Two years ago American President lines sued maritime board over a determination of its subsidy rate. Again the company lost in district court and on appeal.

Isbrandtsen lines sued the board in 1955 to have a subsidy denied American Export lines because of its pooling agreement on carrying Egyptian cotton. This suit is still pending.

These cases are all typical of what the government gets into in trying to maintain competitive enterprise and prevent the growth of monopolies. The dividing lines aren't clear.

Of the Indian acreage involved, about 600 acres are on the Augustine reservation, 1,000 on the Cabazon, and 7,700 on Torres-Martinez.

Land Withdrawal Facts to Be Sent to Washington Offices

BOISE, Aug. 8 (AP)—Forwarding testimony on the proposed atomic energy commission withdrawal of extra east Idaho land for the national reactor testing station awaits final preparation of a hearing transcript in the bureau of land management office here.

J. R. Penny, state BLM supervisor who conducted the hearing on the request at Idaho Falls July 11, said the complete transcript would be forwarded to the secretary of interior for decision.

The hearing was conducted on an AEC amended application to withdraw from unrestricted use about 126,150 acres of range land for inclusion in NRTS.

Atomic energy experiments are conducted at the station about 30 miles west of Idaho Falls. Livestock men and other area residents appeared in protest at the hearing. Since then three briefs have been added to the record.

Officers of the Idaho Wool Growers association filed one of its briefs. M. C. Claar, IWGA secretary, charged in his statement that the AEC has not maintained adequate control over predators and weeds on the land already used.

Andrew D. Little of Home TWGA president, said costs of predator control in Butte county would double if the AEC is allowed to expand holdings. He charged the AEC had failed to control halibut, a weed poisonous to animals.

Little also contended that at a hearing on withdrawal of the atomic experiment station site in 1950, the AEC had assured stockmen it had planned the original tract large enough to contain future expansion.

The atomic energy commission included in support of its request a brief signed by W. C. Funk, acting manager of the Idaho operations office.

"The lands now applied for represent the minimal requirements of the commission for the continued effectiveness of the NRTS," the AEC official said.

Funk said the land was needed both for present and contemplated activities and "for reasonable radiation protection which is a necessary by the proposed expansion of experimental work at the NRTS."

He said grazing could continue for about two years.

The commission's application is not, as was suggested at the hearings, Funk said, "in any way based on either security requirements or on increased needs for underground water."

He said that of 113,532,000 gallons of water used in 1956 about 50 million gallons were returned to the water table, which he said had not been appreciably lowered at NRTS.

Funk said the AEC would cooperate with its neighbors, subject to budgetary limitations, on control of predators and weeds. He said the predator problem and the issue of water both were "beyond the scope" of the issues framed at the hearing.

Rope Lowered

The rescuers lowered a rope with a loop into the well. They pulled Michael up, but just as he reached the top, he slipped back down. This happened three times.

"Don't be scared," the rescuers called down to Michael.

They lowered the rope again. This time it caught. Holding their breaths, they carefully pulled Michael to the top—and to safety.

Firemen took Michael to a hospital but he was unhurt.

Tot Not Hurt By Fall Into 15-Foot Well

ARCATA, Calif., Aug. 8 (AP)—A 3-year-old boy was extricated yesterday from a narrow well into which he had fallen feet first while playing with other children.

The boy, Michael Swenson, and his companions were playing near a newly dug well which had been covered with boards. Becoming curious, the children pushed the boards aside and peered down the 15-foot-deep well.

Gets Too Close

Little Michael, unaware of the danger, toddled too close to the side. Before he knew it, he had plunged to the bottom of the dry well even though it was only seven inches in diameter.

The danger was that the sides of the well might buckle, burying the child in an avalanche of sand.

Michael began to wall. His companions called for help. A telephone call brought sheriff's deputies from Eureka and firemen from Arcata to the scene, a farm on a road between Arcata and Samoa.

Banks Remain Cautious With Rates Boosted

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP)—There will be no rush of funds from big Eastern financial houses to the government-backed mortgage market despite the "sweetener" announced earlier this week by the federal housing administration, bankers said today.

They believe instead that any stimulus the new FHA terms may bring to the housing market will come from financial organizations on the local level.

Last Monday, the FHA lowered down payments and raised the interest rate from 5 to 5 1/2 per cent on agency-insured mortgages.

However, the move, designed to spur lagging homebuilding, also set discount limits on mortgages backed by the FHA and veterans administration.

As one banker from a large institution said, "This about leaves us where we were before."

Discounts essentially are premiums paid for mortgages. They are the amount deducted from the face value of the mortgage when it's sold to enable the person holding the mortgage to receive a greater yield on his investment than the interest rate alone would pay.

Before Monday neither the FHA nor the VA had limits on discounts and they ranked as high as eight points for some paper on the west coast.

The new FHA ruling placed maximum discounts at 2 1/2 points for government-backed mortgages.

Fred Cordes, a vice president of the Boney Savings bank, says the discount limit taken together with the 1/2-percentage point service charge for out-of-town mortgages means that government-backed paper still is unattractive for big financial houses. Here's the way he figures:

A yield of around 5.30 per cent should be received in light of the six per cent rate for conventional loans and the 5 1/2 per cent for "blue ribbon" primes.

However, if you subtract the 1/2-percentage point service charge and add the maximum discount you come up with 4.97 per cent on a 30-year FHA and 5.06 on a 12-year FHA.

Cordes notes, however, that local banks which can absorb the financing in local areas should be stimulated by the FHA action. These banks, he points out, have no service problem.

How will the new increase in the rate banks charge their prime commercial borrowers affect the new FHA program?

Bankers agree that by further increasing the cost of money the higher prime rate may further retard building activity. It will cost builders more to borrow money, they note.

Friends Help Aged Rancher

ORO GRANDE, N. M., Aug. 8 (AP)—Friends today rallied to the support of old John Prather who has stood off a band of military policemen and U. S. deputy marshals in defying a court order to sell his ranch to the government.

A score of friends and relatives spent the night with the 82-year-old rancher who yesterday kept a dozen military policemen from Ft. Bliss and three marshals crouched behind a mill a quarter-mile from his ranchhouse. Prather has threatened to shoot anyone who tries to carry out a court order and evict him from his ranch.

The aged rancher has refused to accept an offer of $200,000 for his 27,000 acres which the government wants for an addition to the McGregor guided missiles test firing range.

Prather had several guns at the ready, but friends and relatives who camped at his ranch for the night stressed they were there only to give him moral support.

Pigeon Receives Best Treatment

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8 (AP)—Every doctor in Wilshire hospital dropped around to examine this emergency patient—a pigeon with a broken leg, found near the hospital's main entrance.

Their decision after consultation yesterday was let the leg mend by itself, without benefit of surgery or splints. The pigeon is resting easily in a box padded with towels.

Costlier Drink

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 8 (AP)—Poland will boost its vodka prices 40 per cent this week-end in an attempt to reduce drunkenness, it was reported today.

Vodka presently costs about $9 a pint at the official local rate of exchange and about $1.50 at the tourist rate.

Peeved Ike Changes, Refers Reporters to First President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower has seemed a little peeved at some questions tossed at him recently. But yesterday he was all peaches and cream, with plenty of sugar, at his news conference.

Along the way he may have given a clue as to why criticism seemed to have less effect than previously.

For he told reporters to read up on criticism made of George Washington, so apparently he's been reading up on him, too.

Last week, you may remember, he became angry at a question over his appointment of Maxwell H. Gluck to be ambassador to Ceylon, and other questions have appeared to nettles him.

Some of the questions yesterday, although asked most politely, had enough sandpaper in them to irritate anyone whose skin was especially sensitive.

Did he think he could have done more to get his programs through congress? Had his leadership been impaired because he now is a lame duck, barred by the constitution from running again? How about those gifts he keeps getting? What about the harsh criticism he's got, especially from Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey of Clarksburg, W. Va., who didn't like Eisenhower's stand on school aid.

"I'll have to refer you to the second term of President Washington," Eisenhower said. Washington was the "greatest human the English speaking race has produced," and look what they said about him.

Well, since Eisenhower assigned this history lesson, let's see what's in it.

There does seem to be considerable criticism at that. Take Washington's farewell address, now so renowned that it's read with gravity and pomp both to the house and the senate each Feb. 22.

Nobody ever points out on these occasions that when Washington first made it, someone suggested a cordial reply and 12 congressmen promptly voted no. One uncordial voter was Andrew Jackson, who later would be a soundly criticized president himself.

As Washington left office, the Philadelphia "aurore" said: "When a retrospect is taken for the Washington administration for eight years this ought to be a jubilee for the United States."

Then as now, there was talk that the President was nothing but a front man, little knowing or caring what was done in his name.

As Sen. William Maclay of Pennsylvania put it: "If there is treason in the wish, I retract it, but would to God this same General Washington were in heaven! We would not then have him brought forward as the constant cover to every unconstitutional and irrepublican act."

Certainly Washington, as a popular hero must have been spared much of the criticism that has befallen other presidents. Yet during his second term he complained:

"Every act of my administration has been attacked in such exaggerated and indecent terms as could scarcely be applied to a Nero—or even to a common pickpocket."

One quite more and we'll finish the brief history lesson.

Washington didn't go in much for humor, and when he did it was fairly heavy handed. But there's a nice irony in this letter to Governor Morris, recalling him from Paris.

"The affairs of this country," Washington wrote, "cannot go amiss. There are so many watchful guardians of them, and such infallible guides, that one is at no loss for a director at every turn."

Beauty Makes Truth Pledge

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 8 (AP)—Lena Gage Ennis, the queen for a day in the Miss Universe beauty contest, apparently meant it when she promised to tell no more falsehoods.

The tall Maryland beauty lost her U.S.A. title at Long Beach, Calif., last month when pageant officials discovered she was married and the mother of two children.

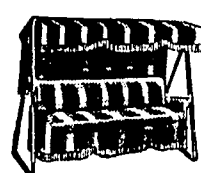

"I'm never going to tell another lie," she reaffirmed yesterday at the Tropicana hotel one of Las Vegas' biggest gambling casinos, where she is rehearsing for a Sept. 4 nightclub debut.

Testing a newsman asked how she felt about gambling: "I don't believe in gambling," Miss Gage replied. And while a casino prosa agent snickered, she added: "That's a good way to go bankrupt."

OFFICIAL RESIGNS
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower yesterday accepted the resignation of H. Earl Cook as chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Obstacles to Cleanup Are High in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP)—New York's police, the city youth board and a host of official agencies are ranging up on juvenile crime, but lack of money and lack of cooperation on the part of parents may enmesh the cleanup campaign.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy has been begging city hall for appropriations for 5,000 additional fully trained policemen. He has had to settle for a night patrol of 836 rookie cops with only five weeks of training. They are permitted to carry service revolvers and night sticks.

No Let-up

Despite the rookie-reinforcements, criminals continued their war against society yesterday. From the time the night patrol went on duty at 8 p.m. Tuesday until 6 a.m., yesterday there were 53 arrests. A 16-year-old boy was arrested for burglary and four youths, ranging in age from 15 to 17 years, were arrested as car thieves.

William P. Pier, executive secretary to Mayor Robert F. Wagner, has made it plain that the wave of youthful assaults that has resulted in 22 deaths so far this year is not related to warfare among gangs, which represent 10,000 New York youth. Scores of private detectives have kept the worst gangs under surveillance for several years and gang violence usually can be quashed quickly.

The police are concentrating on 25 neighborhoods in the city where the young criminal is bred. These areas are the ghettos of delinquency due to a concentration of poverty-stricken homes, ignorance, animal family existence, racial frictions, continual emphasis on sex, and the ingrained conviction that whatever is illegal is "smart" and "sophisticated."

Worst Age

The worst situation exists at the junior and high school level among students ranging from 12 to 20 years of age, although there has been a 50 per cent increase in crime by youths under 16 in the last year.

Teachers in the schools of these blighted areas are constantly on the alert for trouble. Intelligent students get bad marks intentionally to avoid badgering or injury by their classmates. "Nice" girls make weekly payoffs to the gangs to keep from being molested.

Traffic Death Toll Showing Decline

Despite a five per cent increase in highway travel, the nation's traffic death toll will come down by almost 1,000 in 1957 if things go as well on the highway the last half of the year as they did the first six months. Figures for the first six months of 1957 show the death toll was down two per cent from the same period last year, a saving of 488 lives. This two per cent reduction projected over the balance of 1957 would bring an additional saving of almost 600 lives. Newsmap shows percentage of change by states. Twenty-five states reported a decrease; twenty-one an increase. Ohio had no change. Pennsylvania did not report. The total number of deaths for the first six months of 1957 was 17,620, against 18,000 for the same period in 1956. The June highway death toll in 1956 and 1957 was the same—3,280. Idaho was one of the states showing a decrease from the 1956 death rate. Data from the National Safety Council.

United Front Presented by Varied Units

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP) — A new national farm group has entered the agricultural program produced by the United Farm Workers of America.

It is a conference of 36 specialized farm commodity organizations, which ended here yesterday, and which will hold another meeting here Sept. 25-26 to go over plans expected to be developed in the meantime by an arrangements committee.

The spokesman said there is no present intention of making the conference a permanent organization to compete with the big national organizations.

In the meantime, the four major farm organizations will hold annual conventions to draft platforms and policy statements, also for convening the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Farmers Union, the National Grange and the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

Before adjourning, the conference agreed on two things—that there is need for more rigid restrictions on imports of competitive farm products and that a better standard is needed for measuring farm prices as they relate to prices charged farmers.

E. M. Norton of Washington, secretary of the National Milk Producers Federation, was named chairman of the conference arrangements committee. It was largely through his efforts that the specialized farm groups got together.

France Tightens Budget for 1958

PARIS, Aug. 8 (AP) — The French cabinet agreed in emergency session last night to keep its 1958 budget tight down to 15 per cent by imposing rigid ceilings on government spending.

Faced with virtual exhaustion of the government's financial reserves, the cabinet approved the 15-billion-dollar budget demanded by 37-year-old Finance Minister Felix Gaillard. Original estimates were nearly two billion dollars higher.

Gaillard had threatened to resign his demands were not met.

Collector
BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Aug. 8 (AP) — Police are looking for a burglar with a coupon book who broke into an auto parts shop, skipped the cash box and expensive tools, and stole 25,000 trading stamps.

Unloading Question

U. S. auto manufacturers view price increases on 1958 cars as nearly inevitable, but they are wondering whether they will be able to convince the public that the new cars are desirable at the steeper prices. (NEA photo)

Detroit Auto Manufacturers Uneasy About Price Increase

DETROIT (NEA) — You think you've got headaches with rising prices?

You ought to see the paroxysm of pain and panic which the possibility of price rises on the '58 models is causing the auto industry.

For the first time since World War II, styling and horsepower are taking a back seat to interest in prices on upcoming new models.

When the complex ingredients in the price pot are served up with the new models this fall the best estimate is that there will be about a four per cent price boost. The '57s averaged seven per cent higher than the '56s.

But the current price ingredients are so explosive that anything could happen, including price cuts on some models.

The administration in Washington is applying pressure on the industry to keep any price increases to an absolute minimum or hold the line, if possible. The auto industry is said to hold the key to checking further inflation.

Trouble is auto makers point out, two events have already taken place which virtually force some increases on the '58 models.

First was the recent six dollar per ton steel increase. With a ton and one half of steel in the average car this is an increase of about $10 per car for the steel alone. The car industry buys steel about three months in advance so the increase will hit just as the production of '58s hits its peak.

Number two factor was a two cents per hour cost of living in-this demand by giving Pontiac the right to sell its small British-built Vauxhall Victor in the U. S. and Buick the right to market GM's German-made Opel Rekord.

The whole industry is eagerly watching Studebaker-Packard's recent introduction of the Scoultman line, with prices between $1,800 and $2,000. S-P dealers are delighted with the early customer reaction and S-P executives think they have finally found salvation for their company in satisfying public demand for lower-priced cars.

American Motors, which has gambled heavily on the emergence of a heavy demand for low-cost cars, is finally being paid off this year in this field. Sales of its Ramblers and Metropolitans have been setting records and getting the firm out of its financial troubles.

One solution to the price dilemma is an increase on some of the more deluxe models and a cut on the cheaper models. This will give cus-

Playing Catch

NORTH WALES, Pa., Aug. 8 (AP) — Hoping to scare a monkey down from a tree, Police Chief Benjamin Cairns threw a baseball at him.

The monkey, however, made a perfect catch and fired the ball back. Chief Cairns says he was too surprised to grab the return toss. The monkey escaped.

He was one of 49 Rhesus monkeys who got loose from a research laboratory here Tuesday. Eleven are still at large.

Whichever Detroit decides, it won't be known by the public until the date new models are introduced officially. Prices are as carefully guarded as engineering and styling innovations.

"Coddling" of Youth Scored For Troubles

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP) — Juvenile delinquency is a problem in America because "we offer youth nothing but amusement and coddling and not enough direction and authority," Billy Graham said last night.

The 38-year-old evangelist told a Madison Square garden audience of 16,000 that New York and other cities face a "teen gang problem" because parents don't give their children "something to dedicate themselves to."

"In Germany, Hitler got the youth to march proudly under the swastika... Mussolini got the youth of Italy to follow him in black shirts. The communists give their youth a

Hers Again

CAZENOVIA, N. Y., Aug. 8 (AP) — Mrs. R. E. Carson, Jr., got her apron back from the birds yesterday.

Mrs. Carson said a mother wren moved into the apron pocket while the garment hung on the clothesline in June. She did without the apron while five wrens were hatched and grew up in the pocket. Yesterday the birds left the nest.

The sense of dedication the same way. "In America, let's give our youth Christ and watch them march under his proud banner, and the heart of the teen-age problem will be solved."

The revivalist, who will devote all of his New York crusade sermons next week to the teen gang problem in this city, said that often juvenile delinquency is the fault of scoffing parents.

Copper Price Is Slipping Again

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP) — Anaconda Sales company, subsidiary of the Anaconda company, joined other major producers of copper today in announcing price reductions.

Effective this morning the company reduced the price of its electrolytic copper in the domestic market to 28 1/2 cents a pound. That's three-fourths of a cent below the previous price.

The reduction is closely in line with cuts announced by Phelps Dodge corporation and Kennecott Copper corporation earlier this week.

Peggy Gee Weds Lawrence LaRue In Gooding Rite

GOODING, Aug. 8.—Peggy Charlene Gee, Gooding, and Lawrence W. LaRue, Heyburn, were united in marriage in a candlelight service at 8 o'clock Sunday evening in the Methodist church.

The Rev. Paul V. LaRue, brother of the bridegroom, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white and wedding orchid gladioli and white candles. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gee, Gooding, and the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. LaRue, Heyburn.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon tulle over satin, fashioned with a full skirt and fitted bodice, long-point sleeves and a Queen Elizabeth collar. Panels of rose point lace were a feature of the front of the skirt and her fingertip veil was held in place by a small half hat, Queen Elizabeth style, which was decorated with seed pearls. Her bouquet was of pink rosebuds. She wore a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Royce Wise, Twin Falls, matron of honor, chose a short gown of aqua taffeta with a dropped waistline. Her flowers were a cascade arrangement of pink and white carnations. Bridesmaids, Linda Lauder, Eileen Maestas and Donna Clever, wore pink taffeta dresses of the same style and carried white and pink carnations. Candlelighters were Larry Gee, brother of the bride, and Carol Bliss and Coral Bliss, who wore pink dresses identical to the bridesmaids and wristlets of white gladioli.

Becky Ann Barker, Grand Coulee, Wash., niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her dress was a floor-length model of pink taffeta. Ring-bearer was Lynn Hoodenpyle, Richfield, cousin of the bride.

John Heide, Castleford, served as best man. Ushers were Lanny Ames, Mountain Home, Delmas Beaver and Claud Nealis, Heyburn.

For the wedding, the bride's mother chose a street-length dress of blue lace. The bridegroom's mother wore a gown of figured blue silk. Their corsages were red roses complementing the decor.

The four-tiered cake was decorated with pink rosebuds and topped with white frosting. The bride and groom were seated at a table with pink and white flowers. The reception was held in the church parlors.

A nylon lace cloth over pink was used on the serving table with pink bows and white tapers in candelabra completing the decor.

Care of Your Children
By ANGELO-PATRI

Little children are obsessed by curiosity. The world is new to them. All that we take for granted is strange to them and they are driven to learn about it. They turn to their only authority and ask the questions they ask are truly bewildering at times. "He thinks of the oddest things and it seems always at the time when I am busiest." Of course there is no dodging these questions. They must be answered, and truthfully, if a child-parent association is to be built to last through life. A matter of great consequence to all concerned.

A truthful answer to a small child need not be a thorough one. "Did I fall down from heaven? Why didn't I get hurt?"

"You didn't fall from heaven. Maybe he trots off at that and forgets, for the time being, his question. But he will come back."

"Where did I come from?"

"From a seed." Some brief truthful answer, suitable to his stage of development is all that is required but it must be true as far as truth is known to the authority.

Older children come home from school and ask a question. It is likely his mother and father does not know the answer. It is best to say so and then "Let's look it up in the dictionary, or the encyclopedia."

Both learn something and the questioning child has not lost faith in his parent but has acquired a strengthened, together with him. Sometimes a parent hates to say he does not know. He need not. The knowingness among us knows but little measured against the unknownable and it is better to be frank about it, turn to the experts and get the answer.

One thing we should not say and that is, "You are too young to understand. When you are older you'll learn." That only makes a child feel that he is being shunted off and that something he wants to know about is being hidden from him and he goes in search of the answer.

Of course nobody can be wise enough to answer every question a child asks with wisdom and clarity but one can try to fit his answer to the understanding of the questioner. If, as I have said, need not be a thorough and exhaustive treatment of the subject but enough to meet the stage of the inquirer's understanding. And there is always the reference book.

Every family needs the best dictionary they can afford to buy and the best encyclopedia. These are to be used. It is disheartening to hear a parent say, "Don't touch those books. Wait until I come. They are very expensive and you must not soil them."

Those books are made for use. Their edition tells the story of the family's growth, their search for knowledge, their togetherness in these happy developments. They should be loose, thumbled and aged by use and so beautiful.

Some children learn to talk early, then suddenly they stammer. This is a phase some children go through. Dr. Patri explains why children stammer and how to overcome it in his book: "Stammering: How to obtain a cure, and 10 cents in return—Twin Falls, Idaho, 1957, 201, Station G, New York 18, N.Y.

Ghost Towns Are Loved by Idaho Tourist

BOISE, Aug. 8 (AP)—Ghosts of the gold rush days are to be seen by the Idaho traveler in most parts of the state.

Four of the better known so-called ghost towns are Florence, Idaho City, Silver City and Leesburg.

But the Idaho department of commerce and development says most of them are still too much alive to be considered truly ghosts.

Florence is 31 miles south of Grangeville in north-central Idaho. It can be reached by following highway 13 out of Grangeville to the fork with 14, then going just beyond Castle Creek and turning right. Florence grew up when rich placer diggings were discovered north of the Salmon river in 1861. The town has no industry today.

The old mining camp of Leesburg also was founded in the 1860s. It can be reached by several routes through the Salmon river country. The settlement was the first made by southerners in Idaho and was named for General Robert E. Lee. The town once had a mile-long main street and some 7,000 residents. Now about 50 live there.

Idaho City is less than an hour's drive from Boise and can be reached by following highway 21. Located in the Boise national forest, it is the site of the first territorial prison, now partially restored by the Sons and Daughters of Idaho Pioneers. Also in Idaho City is the oldest remaining Masonic hall west of the Mississippi. The city once had a population of 30,000 and was the largest in Idaho.

Silver City is nestled high in the mountains 22 miles from Murphy, county seat of Owyhee county. Silver City's history began in 1863 with the discovery of gold in Jordan creek. Some dredge mining is still done there.

Senators Are Pleased With New Nominee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Senators appeared generally favorable today to President Eisenhower's appointment of soap manufacturer Nell T. McElroy to be his new secretary of defense.

Eisenhower sent McElroy's nomination to the senate yesterday. McElroy, president of Procter and Gamble, would succeed present Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Wilson was expected to step down about the end of the month but no exact date has been set. It was presumed Wilson would stay on long enough to break McElroy into the job.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., said he had met Tuesday with McElroy, and was "very favorably impressed."

"I think he's a good man" for the post, Byrd said.

Sen. John W. Bricker, R., O., praised the nominee as "a top-notch businessman and an excellent administrator."

The six-foot, four-inch McElroy left Washington yesterday to return to Cincinnati to wind up his affairs before taking over the Pentagon post. During a three-day visit here he met with Eisenhower and a number of key senators.

The President described him as "one of the most capable men and the highest type people that I know of in the country."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D., Minn., sounded the only sour note. Asked for comment on the 52-year-old soap company executive's appointment, Humphrey said "this is a tacit admission that there is a necessity for a clean-up in the department of defense."

Mustangs Blast Cowboys 10-5 to Drop Magic Valley Into Tie for First Place

The resurgent Billings Mustangs dumped Magic Valley's Cowboys into a tie for first place in the Pioneer league with a 10-5 victory here Wednesday night before 764 fans. The loss dropped the Cowboys into a tie with Idaho Falls, which beat Boise 3-2, and the Mustangs pulled themselves within one-half game of the pace-setters. Two homers by Chris Cannizzaro drove in three Mustang tallies and highlighted the winners' attack. The

Merchants, Knothole Boys Set Exhibition

A baseball game between merchants and Knothole leaguers has been scheduled for Aug. 17 before the regularly scheduled Pioneer league game between the Magic Valley Cowboys and the Boise Braves. According to A. E. (Sluggo) Vaughn, a member of the baseball promotion committee for the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, merchants will don baseball gear and make an all-out effort to sneak past the hard-hitting pint-sized baseballers.

The game is part of a promotion plan to increase attendance at Jaycees park. Edward (The Lip) Bosard, manager of the merchant ball club, gave notice at a Wednesday meeting of the chamber baseball promotion committee at Wray's cafe, that merchants would be holding "secret" practice sessions to "get in shape."

The three-man committee also discussed a five-event contest to be held prior to the game Aug. 31. They said events would include base running, distance throwing, accuracy throwing and hitting accuracy. Both the Magic Valley team and the Idaho Falls Russells will supply their top men in each event and winners will be awarded cash prizes. On Sunday, Sept. 1, a style show with the latest in fall fashions will be held prior to the game.

Attending the meeting were A. E. Vaughn, C. E. Bosard and Mervin Edson.

Padre Errors Give 11-5 Win To Portland

PORTLAND, Aug. 8 (AP)—The Portland Beavers, aided by two San Diego errors, rolled up seven runs in the sixth inning that pushed them to a 10-5 victory over the Padres in the first game of a scheduled Pacific Coast league doubleheader here Wednesday night.

The second game was postponed when rain began falling shortly before the start of the first inning.

Salmon Fishing Is Down Across State

BOISE, Aug. 8 (AP)—Salmon fishing is dropping off, the state fish and game department reported Wednesday, but a few salmon fishermen are having fair to good luck. High mountain lake and streams are still the best bet, the department said. Early morning and evening fly fishing are reported to be getting good results in many areas.

Fishermen were urged to exercise caution because of the acute forest fire danger.

'I'll Moider de Bum' Is Battle Cry of Basilio as He Looks Toward Robinson

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP)—Reminiscent of the "I'll moider de bum" days of Tony Galento, the publicity campaign for the Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio middleweight championship bout at Yankee stadium Sept. 23 got off to a sizzling start at the official signing last week.

The personable but anything-but-timid Basilio, linked-at-heel kept waiting more than an hour for the tardy Sugar Ray, finally turned loose a few verbal blasts in his general direction.

The welterweight champion indicated there was nothing wrong with Robinson that a good sock in the jaw or midsection wouldn't cure, and that he was just the guy to give the medicine. Aside from being cocky, inconsiderate and generally no good, Carmen said in effect, Robinson was a pretty good guy.

Anyway, there is nothing synthetic about Basilio's animosity toward the man from whom he will try to remove the middleweight crown. He just doesn't like him, period. Robinson's rebuttal has not been heard.

Robinson was due to the signing over the contract with Harry Markson, International Boxing club managing director.

No time print ever got a closer meaning than the elderly Sugar Kid gave the document, although he

Ogden Bowler Blasts Pick of All-Americans

OGDEN, Utah, Aug. 8 (AP)—Bowling promoter Maxie Kosof, who puts on a special 40-game marathon tournament here each year, says he'll put his top five against any or all the bowlers named in two U. S. all-star polls.

Kosof says the all-star teams picked by the American Bowling Congress and the National Bowlers Journal failed to name even one of the men who placed among his own top-ten picks.

He telegraphed Ken Boyland of the ABC in Milwaukee and Mort Lubby of the NBJ in Chicago, offering to post $10,000 for prize money if their all-star bowlers would meet him in Ogden later this year. He set the deadline for accepting will be Sept. 1.

Kosof's tournament ended last Monday, with bowlers rolling 40 games without a rest. The winner, Buzz Fazio of St. Louis, bowled his 40 in 11 hours, knocking down a total of 8,825 pins for an average of 213 per game. All the others on his all-star team also averaged better than 200 per game.

He says the ABC and NBJ all-stars would have to compete on his 40-game marathon terms. "After all," he said, "golfers do 72 holes, not nine. It's the top-mileage auto race that gets the most attention, and they train for 15 rounds in boxing."

Other members of Kosof's all-star picks, who placed second through sixth in his tournament, are: Billy Welu, St. Louis; Bob Strampe, Minneapolis; Lee Jougard, Joe Demichelle, Los Angeles, and as alternate—Jack Soelberg, Portland.

Long Shot in Golf Backed By Minister

UNION CITY, Tenn., Aug. 8 (AP)—This golf story is vouched for by a preacher and a publisher, so we'll pass it along to you.

Vernon Verhine, senior golfer at the Union City and Obion Country club here, scored not one, but two birdies on one shot on the short number six, par three hole during a match the past week-end.

Here's how: Don Cameron, pastor of the First Baptist church, had chipped his ball within two inches of the cup of his second stroke.

Verhine on his first stroke was off the green to the right. He chipped a long one. The ball bounced, grazed the top of Cameron's ball and plopped into the cup. Cameron's ball did a slow wiggle and followed Verhine's in.

Besides Cameron and Verhine, this double birdie—with one stroke—was witnessed by publisher Ed Critchlow of the Union City Daily Messenger.

Podres, Turley Boast Best ERA's in Majors

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP)—Southpaw Johnny Podres of the Brooklyn Dodgers, the majors' shutout king, and right-handed Bob Turley of the New York Yankees show the best earned run averages among big league pitchers at the season's two-thirds mark. Figures compiled by The Associated Press statistical bureau reveal that Podres leads the National league with an earned run average of 2.57.

He has given up 38 earned tallies in 126 innings while winning nine games and losing four. Podres has pitched five shutouts—two against Philadelphia, St. Louis and the New York Giants.

Turley, who has a 7-4 record, has the leading American league ERA of 2.23. Bob has yielded only 25 untainted runs in 100 frames. This represents a big improvement over last season when he finished with a 5.05 ERA.

Turley had three shutouts to his credit—a pair against Kansas City and one against Boston. His other complete game victories were by 3-1 and 5-1 over Detroit and 9-2 over the Athletics. An erratic hurler prior to this year, Bob has walked only 51 batters and struck out 88.

The Yankees dominate the American league competition. Behind Turley come Bobby Shantz and Art Ditmar, both acquired from Kansas City last winter and both showing ERA's of 2.45. Shantz, with a 9-3 record, has worked 125 frames and Ditmar, who is 8-1, 103 innings.

Jim Bunning, a 13-game winner for Detroit, is fourth with an earned run rate of 2.51. He's followed by Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox with 2.52 and Frank Sullivan of Boston, 2.83.

Pierce and teammate Jim Wilson share the American league lead in shutouts with four. Pierce also heads both circuits in victories with 15.

Sam Jones of St. Louis is runnerup to Podres in the National league. Jones has permitted 37 earned runs in 120 innings for a 2.78 ERA. He has won nine games and dropped four and pitched shutouts against Philadelphia and New York.

Bob Buhl, who has won 14 games for Milwaukee, is third in earned run average with 2.94. He has allowed 53 earned runs in 182 innings. To qualify for the earned run championship, a pitcher must work a minimum of 154 innings.

ENDS CAREER—CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (AP)—Don Stoner, an end with the Chicago Cardinals for the past six seasons, has called it a career because of a heart condition. Stoner, 30, said he was quitting professional football on doctor's advice.

State Gives Funds For Conservation

BOISE, Aug. 8 (AP)—The state board of examiners yesterday authorized the state fish and game department to spend $3,750 for land in Bingham and Lemhi counties for use in federal aid for fish restoration projects.

Eight acres would be purchased in Bingham county for $1,000 and 5.68 acres in Lemhi county would take the remainder of the funds. The examiners also granted a request from the state forestry office for a building at Orofino.

Fan Club for Williams Continues To Grow in All Parts of Boston

BOSTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—The dateline possibly should read "Williamstown" as never was a community so wrapped up in the life and fortunes of one individual, in this case a long, loose larruper named Theodore Samuel Williams, commonly known as Ted, The "Splendid Splinter," to use another handle, currently is defying all the laws of nature, gravity and what-not in having, at the ripe old age of 39, one of his best seasons with the Boston Red Sox.

Missoula Uses 3-Run Homer To Beat Bees

MISSOULA, Aug. 8 (AP)—Missoula's manager Jack McKeon tied Salt Lake City in the third inning with a three-run homer Wednesday night and the Timberjacks went on to an 8-5 Pioneer league victory.

Two hits and two walks produced a Bee run in the first and the Jacks followed with a single score on four straight walks.

The Bees took the lead with two runs in the top of the second when Bob Hunt homered with Phil Hewitt aboard on a single. The Jacks collected one run in the bottom of the frame.

Salt Lake opened the third with two runs. Hewitt doubled in a single and Al Kenders, who got aboard on an error.

McKeon tied the ball game in the inning when he homered over the right field wall after Mike Haney had singled and Wayne Tucker had doubled.

Football Players Double as Nurses

NORMAN, Okla., Aug. 8 (AP)—The University of Oklahoma football squad may be a tough outfit on the gridiron but the boys are tender as nursemaids at home.

When a tornado alert was sounded, the only shelter available was the basement of Jefferson house, the dormitory for athletes.

Dozens of parents and young offsprings rushed to the basement without adequate provisions. The football players took over walking crying babies, applying diapers and clowning to keep minds off the storm.

LEWISTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—As many as 300 entries are expected for the Idaho state swimming meet that gets under way here Friday.

Williams, who on more than one occasion has showed his disdain for those who indirectly pay his wages think of him, still holds a prominent place in their affections. The King can do no wrong.

In a recent game with the Tigers the official scorer gave an error to Harvey Kuenn, Tiger shortstop, a difficult chance on a ball hit by Williams.

The crowd packed in angular Fenway park boomed a full two minutes. Later, the scorer, wanting to be sure he was right, asked Kuenn about the play. Kuenn said he had to chance on the hard-hit ball, so Ted was given a hit.

That's just a sample of how Bostonians are pulling for the big guy. There are thousands of unofficial scorers to see that Williams gets all that is coming to him.

Nelson Posts Third No-Hit Tilt in Row as Burley Ward Takes District LDS Crown

BURLEY, Aug. 7.—Clint Nelson's third consecutive no-hit no-run game gave the Burley fifth ward its second straight district championship as the Burley nine defeated Twin Falls fifth ward 1-0 here Thursday night. Nelson's performance overshadowed a stellar pitching job by the loser's Bing Byington, who allowed only four hits during the exciting, well-played game. A standing-room crowd was on hand to watch the duel. Nelson missed his third straight perfect game of the tournament in the fifth inning of the game, when he hit two batters. With the men threatening by advancing to second and third, the Burley whiz settled down and struck out the next three hitters.

Brodie Seen as Key To All-Star Chances

CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (AP)—The College All-Stars put the final push on their offense Wednesday for the 1957 football season's first big game with indications John Brodie of Stanford would be the key to the attack against the New York Giants. The All-Stars meet the Giants Friday night at Soldier Field with a crowd of 75,000 more expected. The Giants, national football league champions in 1956, left their camp in Winoski, Vt., by special plane Wednesday afternoon.

All-Stars Can Trim Giants, Coach Asserts

CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (AP)—Coach Curly Lambeau believes his 1957 College All-Stars are every bit as good as the 1955 team which trimmed Cleveland and that they are capable of whipping the New York Giants Friday night. Lambeau, not one to make rash predictions, compared his present Stars with the 1955 team which edged the Cleveland Browns 30-27 in a real thriller won on a field goal by Ohio State's tiny Tad Weed.

"I think they're every bit as good as the 1955 team," said Lambeau. "They've shown me they are capable of beating the Giants." "The 1955 team," he continued, "was very good and had a lot of spirit and was strong both on offense and defense." Lambeau also coached the 1956 All-Stars who lost to the Browns, 26-0. Lambeau, who founded the Green Bay Packers and coached them through 1950, said the 1955 team was good but it did not have enough good men adding that the Browns that year were "much better."

Kramer Sure Hoad Can Make Pro Net Grade

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8 (AP)—Although Australian tennis star Lew Hoad has been unimpressive in his professional debut, promoter Jack Kramer hasn't given up on him. But Kramer, who has $125,000 invested in Hoad, says he'll have to change his style to be successful as a pro.

"His second serve is too shallow," says Kramer. "His opponents massacre it. He must shorten his backhand or play deeper in returning service. Right now he's swinging too late and not getting any accuracy."

Kramer says Hoad is tied up physically and is in a mental turmoil, that he is trying so hard that he is pressing and can't seem to do anything right. "He had plenty of confidence when he first came over from England after winning at Wimbledon for the second straight year. In his first two professional matches in New York he was loose and really looked good in winning, but then he ran into his nemesis, Ken Rosewall, and that defeat seems to have thrown him."

Angels Sell Hurler

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8 (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast league Wednesday announced the sale of veteran relief pitcher Jim Hughes to the Chicago White Sox for catcher Earl Battey and another player who will be selected later.

Webb Rallies To Get Split Decision Win

CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (AP)—Chicago's Spider Webb, No. 6 ranked middleweight, turned loose a terrific seventh round attack, to capture a split 10-round decision over Charley Joseph of New Orleans at the Chicago stadium Wednesday night. Webb thus avenged a June 18 defeat by Joseph, No. 8 middleweight contender, at New Orleans which ended a 20-bout victory string by the former Idaho State college fighter.

It was a fast, spirited bout throughout with Webb apparently turning the tide by a pulverizing attack in the seventh when he pelted Joseph with at least a dozen solid blows to the head and had his New Orleans foe reeling.

Referee Bill Doty voted for Webb 40-42 and Judge Frank Clark called it for the shifty Chicagoan, 48-43. Judge Howard Walsh voted a 45-43 draw. The Associated Press card had a 47-47 draw.

Channel Beats American Man After 5 Hours

CALAIS, France, Aug. 8 (AP)—Gustave Adolph Bricker, a 45-year-old steelworker from Charleroi, Pa., abandoned his attempt to swim the English channel Wednesday. He then announced: "My long distance swimming days are over."

Bricker waded into the water at nearby Cap Gris Nez, at 5:10 a.m. (12:10 a.m. EDT). He was forced to give up at 10:58 a.m. (5:58 a.m. EDT)—five hours and 48 minutes later.

"I was nearly halfway across the channel," he told United Press. Cramps brought Bricker twice-postponed attempt to a halt. "I was helpless from the waist down," he said. "The boat crew had to lasso me and haul me out of the water."

Bricker, who is American cold water swim champion, had hoped to make it across to Dover, England, in 15 hours of swimming.

Shift Will Be Public Next Week

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (U.P.)—The New York Giants, with San Francisco's formal offer in hand, will present that offer to the club's board of directors next week and probably announce the franchise shift.

Brooklyn's announcement of its franchise shift to Los Angeles was not expected to be far behind, since Dodger hopes of a new stadium in Brooklyn just about disappeared yesterday with publication of an engineers' report that it would take from $0 to $5 million dollars to build a new stadium and improve its downtown Brooklyn site.

In a meeting with Giant stockholders yesterday, club president Horace Stoneham told them it would be in the best interests of the team to move to San Francisco. "Too bad—I hate to see the club go," said one stockholder. "But he presented all the facts to us and I guess that's the way it has to be."

In San Francisco, Mayor George Christopher said he had mailed the formal San Francisco offer to Stoneham for presentation to the team board of directors. "I'm sure we'll have the whole thing cleared up by the end of the month," said Christopher.

No one would concede that the moves were absolutely certain. Christopher said that the "chances" are about 90 per cent that San Francisco will have the Giants in 1958. Edgar Feeley, Giant treasurer who presided over the stockholders' meeting, said Stoneham told the stockholders "there is nothing definite about when and where the Giants are to move," and that "everything so far has been of an exploratory nature."

But Stoneham came to the meeting with 10,283 proxies out of a total of 11,751 shares of Giant stock, so his feeling that it would be best for the Giants to move is obviously the course which will be followed.

The Dodgers' president, Walter O'Malley, has said many times he will take the team to Los Angeles if the city of New York does not help him get the stadium he wants at the location he wants. It was clear the city would not spend $0 million dollars for it.

That sum is "impossible and out of the question," according to one member of the city body studying the plans.

Princeton Picked To Win Ivy Loop

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 8 (AP)—Princeton is a strong favorite to win the 1957 Ivy league football title, at least among the league's sports publicists.

Five of the eight directors of sports information picked the Tigers to win the crown while the other three figured them for second in a recent poll. Pennsylvania (2) and Yale (1) were the other choices.

Last season the publicists picked Yale and Cornell as co-favorites. Yale won the championship—and Cornell finished last.

Pitching Staff Carries Hope for Twin Falls in State Legion Meet

Boasting a strong pitching staff, but "light" on experience and speed, the Twin Falls Junior American Legion baseball team travels to Nampa this week-end to defend the state championship it won last year in Lewiston. The team, composed of boys 16 years of age or under from several Magic Valley communities, will leave for the state tournament Friday morning. If successful they will remain there until Sunday. ## Russets Rally In Ninth to Nip Boise 3-2

IDAHO FALLS, Aug. 8 (AP)—Moe Benedict doubled in the winning run Wednesday night as the Idaho Falls Russets came from behind in the ninth to take a 3-2 Pioneer league triumph over the Boise Braves.

The Braves had never been behind until then. They scored a run in the first stanza when Howie Bedell singled and stole second and third. Rufus Johnson tripled him home.

The Russets tied the ball game in the sixth frame. Jack Rich led off with a single and went to third on Gordy Maxwell's single. Rich scampered in when Jess Queen filed to right field.

In the top of the ninth, Boise took the lead with one run. Bob Jackson walked and moved to second on a wild pitch. Maurie Lerner singled him in for the score.

In the bottom of the inning, Jess Queen walked. Jay Cooke bunted and the throw to first was wild, letting Queen score from first.

Wendell Antoine, whom the Braves were trying to pass, reached out and caught a hit and was safe on a fielder's choice. Antoine moved to third on an error and a single and Benedict drove in the run with his double.

Braves Raise Lead With Win Over Redlegs

By The Associated Press
The first-place Milwaukee Braves raised five Cincinnati hurlers with 15 hits, including two homers by Wes Covington, as the Braves grabbed a 12-2 victory, their 10th in 12 games with the fourth-place Redlegs, who fell six games behind the pace.

The victory gave Milwaukee a one and one-half game lead over the Cardinals. Chicago rookie Dick Drott, notched his 10th victory and teammate Walt Moryn, Bob Speake and Dale Long slammed home runs as the Cubs dropped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-1 at Busch stadium.

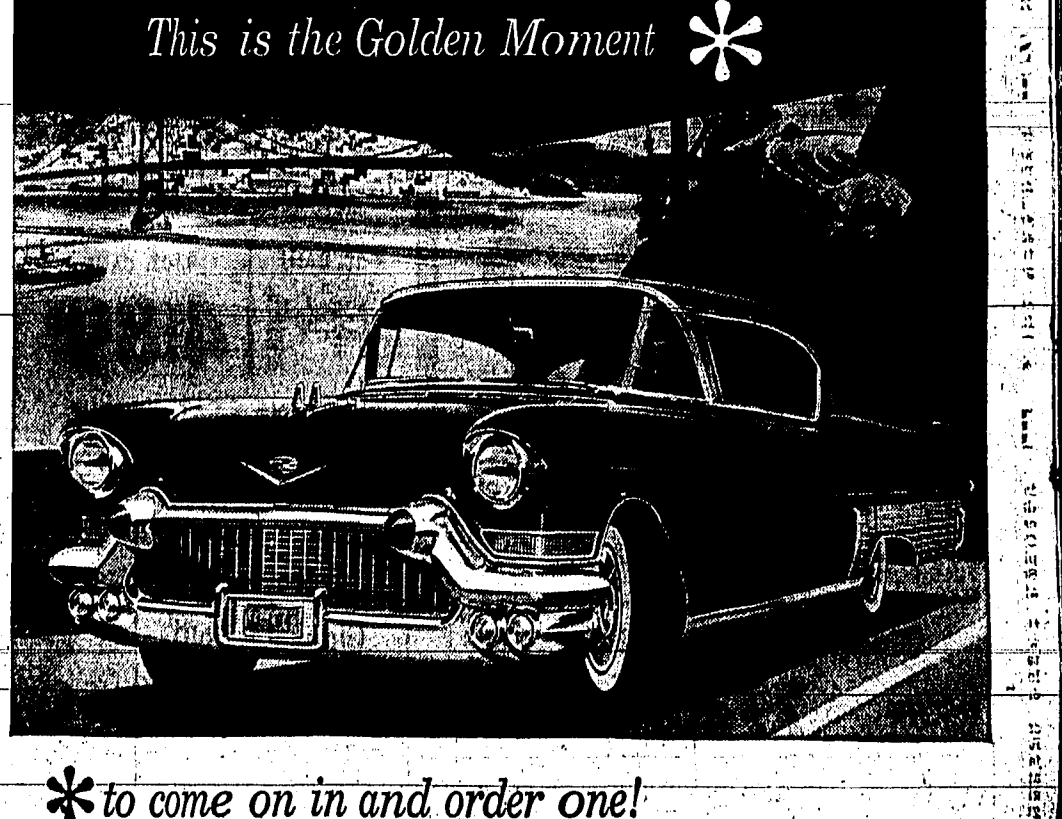

Hank Sauer hauled the New York Giants from behind with a 3-run pinch-hit homer in a 5-run ninth inning that beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 8-5 in Jersey City. Don Newcombe, last season's top winner, lost his fourth in a row for a 6-10 record.

Mary Grissom, who hasn't lost to Brooklyn in three years, won it in relief of Johnny Antonelli, who gave up all the Dodger runs on nine hits in his six innings.

Roy Campanella had four singles in a four at bats and drove in three runs for the Dodgers. Charlie Neal brought the other two across with a triple and single.

Monetary Woe Is Climbing for European Ally

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP) — The French are having another money crisis. It comes in an era of almost unprecedented good times when you might think a money crisis unlikely. In the United States there's no money crisis but there are sizable money troubles — both for those managing a business and those managing a family, and also even for Uncle Sam. This also comes in an era of generally good times.

The French franc has sort of unofficially devaluated itself by dropping to the lowest point in five years on the black market.

The American dollar is in no danger of devaluation and there is no black market. But its purchasing power is being slowly (and also unofficially) devalued by the rising cost of living for consumers and rising costs of doing business and running the government.

In both countries those being hurt the most are much the same — small businessmen, small farmers, the white collar workers, those on fixed incomes. The seemingly hurt the most are the bigger businesses and those with strong unions. They find it easier to ride the wage-price spiral (at least for the time being) and to surmount the tight credit, costlier money conditions which, it is hoped, will slow down inflation.

In France the remedy they talk of trying is either official devaluation — which could prove to be only a moderate, not a cure — or austerity.

Here the word austerity isn't heard and isn't likely to be. The nearest approach to it are the words restraint — restraint by labor in asking higher wages, restraint by business in raising prices — or higher interest rates.

Higher costs chalked up this week in the United States include: Higher interest rates on government-guaranteed home mortgages, higher interest charged by some banks on business loans, freight rate hikes of seven per cent for eastern and western railroads of four per cent for southern roads, and a promise by the civil aeronautics board that it will speed up its study of airline passenger fares which the companies call too low.

America's dollar problems look small when you look at those in France. The French franc has the shakes largely from limping too much prosperity too fast.

France is having an industrial boom. To feed that boom it has imported more materials than it thus exported, weakening its currency dangerously in terms of those of other nations.

"We'll Lick the Platter Clean"

Inventions of Costumes, Old Customs Suggested by Writer

By Henry McLemore

AU—I'm not actually in this little Bavarian town, but we drove through it yesterday and I couldn't resist using it for a deadline.

For one thing, my typewriter ribbon is getting pretty thin, and writing AU won't take half as much out of it as Berchtesgaden, where I really am.

We passed through AU—which is pronounced just like the word you would use if you had hit your shin on a table leg—one the way to Bad Tölz, and were struck by the number of its people who wore their native Bavarian costumes. Nearly everyone wore the same outfits their ancestors had worn centuries ago, and it made a charming picture.

The thought struck me that perhaps we Americans would attract more tourists to our country if we went in for quaint costumes, and dressed as our forefathers used to.

Europeans don't flock to the U.S. on vacations as Americans do to Europe, and it could be that the modernity and sameness of our dress might be one of the reasons. We all look pretty much the same, from Cape Cod to Seattle to Miami. It might be a money-making scheme to have New Englanders dress as New Englanders did in John Adams' time. Westerners to go around as if they had just stepped out of a covered wagon, and Southerners wear crinolines, gossams, and those cut-away Colonel's coats.

Tourists like native costumes. There's no getting away from that. They like them almost as much as they like ruins, cold cathedrals, and views from mountain peaks. This is especially true of tourists with cameras, and that means all tourists, because a tourist would just as lief be caught without his trousers as without his 120 or 35 millimeter. I know, because I'm one of them. When I get home I'll have enough pictures of Europeans in native dress to paper more walls than there are in my house.

A town may not have a hotel, but let word get around that its inhabitants wear quaint outfits, and we tourists will go there.

If America hopes to get its share of tourist trade it should revive (or dream up) a lot of old customs, too. They really help.

Nothing attracts visitors like a group of people, wearing outlandish costumes, observing some old custom. It doesn't matter what old custom. It can be pinning flowers behind donkeys' ears on "donkey decoration day," or shooting off shotguns to celebrate the liberation of the city from the "Frankensteins," or dancing around the town pump to observe the lifting of the chicken-pox plague 200 years ago.

Just let it be known that on such-and-such a day that such-and-such a custom will be observed, and the tourists will flock in.

It is something for us Americans to think about. There's no reason why we shouldn't get some of the European money that's floating around.

Next year let's all wear trick clothes, dance some jigs, and start getting rich.

Compromise Something New in Long History of "Civil Rights" Legislation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Congress, which is used to making all-or-nothing choices on civil rights legislation, must decide this year whether to choose compromise instead.

Some of the advocates of strong legislation are beginning to say it would be better to pass no bill than to take what they can get from the senate this year.

Until now civil rights bills have never been handled in a climate of compromise. Heretofore almost all members of congress took it for granted Southern Democrats could and would kill any measure by filibuster in the senate.

The debates were mostly for the record. Supporters of the legislation showed little more interest in compromise than did the southerners.

At one time the battle was over bills to abolish state poll taxes by federal law. Compromisers raised constitutional questions and asked why the goal should not be sought through constitutional amendment. All-out backers of the bill objected and settled for nothing. The poll tax survives in five Southern states.

Later the issue was drawn over bills to create a national fair employment practices commission (FEPC) to discourage discrimination against Negro job holders and applicants. Compromise proposals to set up a mediation agency to deal with the problem never were taken seriously by either side. No bill was ever passed.

The compromisers sometimes asked why it was better to settle for nothing than to decide in advance that a watered-down bill was not even worth a trial.

Even Sen. Richard B. Russell, D. Ga., leader of the Southern bloc opposed to all civil rights bills, took compromise soundings in 1949. He was reported to have been rebuffed both by President Truman and some of his fellow Southerners.

This year the senate has watered down the administration bill, passed by the house, until it deals largely with protection of voting rights. It also has attached a controversial

Enough!

BOISE, Aug. 8 (AP)—George A. Greenfield, former state Democratic chairman, took over his new post as state committeeman from Ada county yesterday with a blast at Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

"We have had enough of a traveling governor who fails to give leadership to our state government," said Greenfield, who was elected to fill the unexpired term of D. H. Dorman.

Dorman resigned the post upon his election last month as secretary-treasurer of the State Federation of Labor.

Governor Names Man for Council

BOISE, Aug. 8 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie announced yesterday he had nominated State Rep. Sam Kaufman, R., Ada, Boise, as a member of the drafting committee of the council of state governments.

Appointments to the committee are made by Gov. William Stratton of Illinois, president of the council, on nomination of the governors.

The committee produced for the council its program of suggested state legislation and makes its report to the council's annual sessions and to the annual governors' conference.

Smylie also announced the appointment of State Rep. H. Grant Garner, R., Payette, to serve on the council's board of managers.

Rocket Will Be Launched From Balloon

An air force-sponsored plan, Operation Far Side, will use the largest balloon ever launched to help fire a rocket expected to soar thousands of miles into space. The rocket will be launched from the balloon 20 miles about the Pacific ocean in September. Purpose of the rocket, which will carry a 3½-pound, highly complex package of scientific instruments at a top speed of more than 17,000 miles per hour, is to investigate atmospheric and space phenomena at extremely high altitudes. Included in the 6 by 4-inch package will be a tiny but powerful radio to transmit data to ground receiving and recording stations. The huge balloon, 200 feet in diameter, will hoist the 1,900-pound, 23-foot-long rocket to 100,000 feet before it is fired. This minimizes friction encountered by firing it through the earth's atmosphere. The four-stage rocket will blast upward, straight through the balloon, with a first-stage thrust of 160,000 pounds. From stage four the instrument package and the burned-out last-stage rocket will continue upward through space as a free projectile. The rocket was developed by Aeronautics Systems, Inc., of Los Angeles, Calif., the balloon by General Mills.

Sketch shows the rocket vehicle and its launcher being prepared for flight. Launcher, atop truck, is attached to ring at end of balloon. Balloon is being filled with helium from tanks at right. When the 3,750-cubic-foot bag is partially filled, it will lift rocket and launcher off truck. As it rises, the gas expands so that at 100,000 feet it will be fully inflated.

Close-up of rocket vehicle and launching frame shows how it is attached to ring at bottom of balloon, ready to shoot right through the bag's top. Size of the rocket in comparison to the huge balloon is shown in sketch of complete assembly at lower right.

After reaching 100,000-foot altitude, vehicle is launched, firing directly through balloon. Note hole in top of bag, torn by the rocket's exit.

Boyle Reveals "Electrifying" Facts About U.S. Housewives

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP)—Tales and tidbits:
The U. S. housewife is becoming more and more electric—or at least electrically-minded.

Did you know that about one out of every 10 American women now uses an electric shaver?

This electrifying nugget of knowledge also found that 95.2 per cent of modern homes (those with wires) now have radios and 81 per cent have television sets.

In most families, however, father still has to mix his drinks and do the dishes by hand. Some 94.3 per cent of our homes are without blenders and 94.3 per cent have no automatic dishwashers.

Crusade for Freedom relays the story of the Romanian communist who died and went to hell. When he arrived at the entrance, he was surprised to find two doors.

On one door was the notice, "communist hell," and on the other, "capitalist hell."

"Which do you choose?" he was asked.

"The communist hell, of course," he replied. "There is bound to be a fuel shortage!"

The Bordeaux section of France, noted for its wine, is busting its buttons in pride because a survey found it had, proportionate to its population, the largest number of centenarians in the country.

In one parish alone—St. Julien—50 couples had been wed 50 years or more.

Marie Roubert, who was 104, cheered the wine producers by attributing her longevity to the fact that for over a century her diet had included red wine—and snails.

The prize example of virility, however, was Jean Mansard, 41-00—Monsieur Mansard, who already had nine children, married a girl of 18, who in due time bore the proud man his 10th offspring.

Speaking of hens, Mrs. Martha Cresci of New York City has written us about asking her daughter, Sandy, then 7 years old, "Which came first, the chicken or the egg?"

"Oh, I know the answer to that," replied the child. "The chicken came first."

"How do you figure that?" inquired

Ex-Leader of Demos Lashes Ike Appointee

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says the appointment of Maxwell H. Gluck as ambassador to Ceylon is "another example of the cynical payment of political debts at the expense of our friends and international respect."

The 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential candidate also says that the Eisenhower administration has "done great damage to our diplomatic services from the outset."

Stevenson made the comment at a news conference, several hours after he arrived by plane from a three-month tour of Europe and Africa.

President Eisenhower's nomination of Gluck was approved by the foreign relations committee and later was confirmed by the senate.

Gluck, head of a chain of dress stores, testified before the committee that he contributed between $20,000 and $30,000 to last year's Republican presidential campaign.

Johnny Holman, Lake Village, Ark., heavyweight, once lost a decision with his rival, Larry Watson, flat on his back. Holman put Watson down with less than 10 seconds to go in the final round.

Pedestrian Decides to Tail Along

Five steers, being trucked through Detroit, escaped from the vehicle when it stopped on a downtown street. After their escape, the steers had themselves a time. They roamed the streets, causing motorists to jam on their brakes and pedestrians to seek refuge in doorways. This steer, a 700-pounder, was chased by city worker Louis Witherspoon, who hung on to the animal's tail until three police cars arrived. (NEA photo)

Liquor Profit of Idaho Increasing

BOISE, Aug. 8 (AP)—Idaho state liquor sales earned a net profit of $3,899,590 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957.

The profit was $133,427 greater than in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955.

than the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955.

Fred Charlton, superintendent of the state liquor dispensary, said liquor sales earned a net profit of $3,899,590 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957.

The profit was $133,427 greater than in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955.

than the fiscal year ending last year and 17 per cent greater than 1955, Charlton said.

Charlton said the increased profits resulted more from savings on freight and other costs rather than on extra consumption of liquor. He said Idaho undersells surrounding state-owned dispensaries by from 20 cents to $1.80 a case.

That profit came from sales of 3,402,022 bottles of alcoholic beverages, he said.

Are These Saucers?

This provocative photo of three years ago was made by a coast guard photographer at Salem, Mass., after he saw the strange objects in the sky.

Saucer Observers Organized To Keep Taks on Phenomena

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—You can't report seeing flying saucers without being tagged as the neighborhood nut.

That's one of the several unique services being offered by a new organization called the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena.

Another service is that your membership in NICAP will be kept a secret, just in case the mere act of signing up might start the neighbors talking. Already there are plenty of secret members, although there are some pretty impressive names among members who aren't afraid to let their affiliation made public.

The current yearly dues in this nonprofit organization are $7.50. In addition to offering the choice of anonymity or publicity, the membership package includes a new publication called "The UFO Investigator."

UFO is the official Pentagon designation for unidentified flying objects, or flying saucers.

The first issue, just off the press, deals for the first time that a U.S. aeronautics administration radar operator tracked four UFOs flying over California at speeds up to 10 mph last spring. The circumstances were similar to past radar sightings which could not be identified as conventional aircraft.

The magazine promises to keep members up to date on similar future sightings.

The first issue also revealed that the former head of the U. S. central intelligence agency, Adm. Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter had become a member of the board of directors of NICAP. Hillenkoetter recently retired from the navy and is now with a shipping firm in New York. The CIA which he headed is Uncle Sam's top intelligence agency.

Another retired admiral, Delmer S. Fahrney, is a founder of the organization. Fahrney is a pioneer of guided missile development. Still another member is Maj. Dewey Fournier, a former investigator of UFO reports for the air force. Others include retired generals, air line pilots, college professors, ministers and businessmen.

Donald Keyhoe, a retired marine major and author of three best-selling flying saucer books, is the director of NICAP and editor of the new magazine. He has made flying saucers a highly profitable career. In the process he has worked up a feud with the air force on the subject.

It has been Keyhoe's contention all along that the air force has a big plot cooking to keep the real facts on saucers from the public.

"The real mission of NICAP is to get the air force to open up its secret files on saucers so that the public can evaluate for itself just what there is to this whole thing," he insists.

A service which Keyhoe and his passengers from outer space. He says a special NICAP committee will give writers who claimed to have ridden in flying saucers and interviewed such claimants lie-detector tests and analyze their reports if they will submit to this.

In offering to keep names of members secret at their request, Keyhoe admits that just an interest in flying saucers could make a person the object of ridicule. He says many airline pilots have been ordered not to report any UFO sightings for this reason.

In a statement of personal policy on saucers, published in the first edition of the magazine, Keyhoe says: "I consider that the evidence that UFOs are real and are interesting saucers could make a person planetary machines is conclusive. But I am making every effort to be neutral in my approach to new evidence."

"The opinions of our special advisors and the board of governors will far outweigh my own personal convictions in final evaluations."

Bargains Can Be Found as Prices Rising

By The Associated Press
Food costs are still inching up, but there are bargains to be had if you look for them.
Best buys in meat this week-end will include smoked picnic hams, chuck roast, hamburger, spare ribs, bacon and most cuts of veal.
Likewise attractively priced are roasting turkeys and frying chickens.

Veal Good Buy

Beef prices continue to move up. While veal is a bit higher in some areas, it's still one of the better buys.

Egg prices have turned around and are again heading lower. Budget-minded shoppers will also find a wide variety of frozen fish to choose from. Some of the more prominently mentioned "specials" are frozen fish sticks and frozen salmon steaks.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are available in great abundance this week, although a searing drought has damaged crops in some North-eastern states.

Outstanding buys include cabbage, yellow and green squash, bunching beets, yellow onions, tomatoes, potatoes, radishes and yellow sweet corn. California long white and Idaho early gem potatoes, Chinese cabbage and California pascal celery.

Fruits Attractive

Cantaloupes are a little higher in price this week but still a good buy. Also attractively priced are South Carolina and Maryland peaches, Florida citrus fruits, California oranges, Montana cherries and Washington prunes. Blueberries are nearing the end of their season; grapes, plums, nectarines and pears are pretty much in the luxury class.

Dairy products are in great abundance right now—production of butter and cheese is way up but people are eating less. To take up the slack, the government is stepping up its purchases of butter and cheese under the price support program.

It's going to be a good year for apples. The International Apple Growers association says its annual study indicates the 1957 U. S. apple crop will be about 15 per cent larger than the average for the past five years. But the Canadian crop will be about eight per cent lower than the five-year average.

Sternwheeler Churns to Final Berth

The "Nenana," biggest sternwheeler west of the Mississippi, steams up the Chena river toward her new job as a tourist attraction in Fairbanks. She has plied the Alaskan waters since 1932. (AP photo)

Sternwheel Steamer Becomes Museum as Era Is Concluded

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—The great sternwheeler "Nenana," 236 feet long, went out of service in 1954 and has been tied up at Nenana. She was bought last year for operation as a museum by Greater Fairbanks Opportunities, Inc., under sponsorship of the Fairbanks Chamber of Commerce.

Purchased as salvage, the "Nenana" was put into shape during the winter months by old-time riverboat men. It took Al Larson, an engineer with 15 years' experience on steamers, and Hugo Fredericks, a veteran water tender and fireman, more than six weeks just to get the boat's boilers in shape to hold steam.

To make it possible for the boat to pass under bridges now across the river, Larson had to cut and hinge the stack so it would fold back on scaffolding erected behind the pilot house.

Old riverboat men from miles around turned out as crew members for the final voyage of the last steam-powered boat in Alaska inland waters.

Larson, who made more than 100 trips aboard the "Nenana" in the days before diesel tugs and cargo aircraft ended her Yukon career and took a leave of absence from his regular job to rehabilitate her, said he made the final trip "for sentimental reasons."

The Fairbanks Chamber of Commerce is hoping similar sentiment on the part of tourists will turn the "Nenana" again into a profit-making sternwheeler.

Bureau Finance Officer Is Made Chief of Region

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 8—John M. Patton, who has been regional finance officer, has been appointed administrative officer for the bureau of reclamation's region 4, Regional Director E. O. Larson announced today.

Larson said all of the region's activities in finance, budgeting, personnel, procurement, property management, "and other non-engineering services," will be under Patton's direction.

"Of particular importance," Larson said, "will be responsibility for handling the unique revolving fund, called the basin fund, set up by congress in public law 485, to accomplish repayment of the costs of the Colorado river storage project and participating units."

Patton has served as regional finance officer since his transfer to region 4 from the Columbia basin project in the state of Washington. Region 4 includes most of Utah and Nevada, western Colorado, southwestern Wyoming, northwestern New Mexico and small portions of Idaho and Arizona.

Concluding services were held in the Carey cemetery.

Governor for Colorado Has Okay for Dam

DENVER, Aug. 8 (AP)—Echo Park dam, long opposed by wildlife conservation groups, should be constructed in Dinosaur national monument, Gov. Steve McNichols said yesterday upon his return from a four-day boat trip through that wilderness area.

"I think the thing ought to be built," the governor said at a news conference. "It would make a recreation area unparalleled in the world."

He conceded water backed up by the dam would fill up Ladore canyon on the Green river and the Yampa river canyon, where he traveled in a rubber boat, but he said there still would be enough beauty left.

The governor emphasized that a deposit of dinosaur bones would remain unharmed by the reservoir.

"It would no more touch the dinosaur bones than the man in the moon," he said. "The cliff containing the dinosaur remains is many miles below the dam site."

The proposed Echo Park dam was dropped from the upper Colorado river storage project two years ago by sponsors of the project because of bitter opposition by conservation groups throughout the nation.

McNichols said he plans to invite 11 western governors "and any other governors who want to take the trip" to accompany him on a similar expedition about this time next year.

Federal Probers Plan Mines Visit

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 (AP)—Sen. Frank Church, D. Ida., said yesterday he has been notified a team of government investigators will visit the Derry area in northern Idaho in September to study mica mining.

Church said he was told three representatives of the defense materials service of the general services administration would make the trip. Representatives of the mica mining industry in the area have recently protested having to ship their output to the government depot at Custer, S. D., where it is purchased and stockpiled.

Plea for Closer Bond Ends Meet

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 8 (AP)—A world-wide church meeting ended yesterday with a plea for closer bonds among all Christians — and thanking that such bonds are now being forged.

The note was sounded again and again, in prayer, statements and song, as top-ranking Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox church leaders from around the earth concluded a nine-day conference.

In a closing chapel service, the Rev. Dr. Ernest A. Payne, London, said:

"At moments we tend to react sharply against the multitude of words that beat against our ears — words, words, words. We wonder what all the talk amounts to, all the night and day meetings, the discussions, the committees, the reports."

"I believe we have been hearing and sharing in that process by which God in this century is gathering together His people . . ."

Men Fined

RUPERT, Aug. 8—Justice of the Peace George Redford, Rupert, fined Phillip Russell, Rupert, $5 and $3 costs for driving without a driver's license, and Kurt A. Leub, Burley, $5 and $3 costs for driving on an expired license. Norman Cox, Rupert, posted a $5 bond for driving a car with noisy muffler.

Teen-Agers Charged in Stabbing

Eight of nine youths charged with homicide in the fatal stabbing of Michael Farmer, 15, are booked at a New York police station. In all, 20 youths are under arrest on homicide and juvenile delinquency charges in the death of the polio-ridden boy and the critical wounding of his companion. The pair were attacked by a teen-age gang in an upper Manhattan park. (AP wirephoto)

Lawmaker Called Economy Leader

BOISE, Aug. 8 (AP)—Idaho's Republican central committee today claimed that GOP Congressman Hamer Budge of Idaho was one of two Republican representatives who led the 85th congress in consistent votes for government economy.

The committee, quoting information from a copyrighted report by "Congressional Quarterly" magazine, said Sen. Henry Dworshak, R., Ida., tied for third place among those voting for cuts in federal spending.

The committee added that Dworshak and Budge, the GOP members of Idaho's congressional delegation, were the only members of the state's delegation to answer every roll call on 50 test votes selected by the publication.

Houston Acts to Reduce Shootings

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 8 (AP)—The law is getting tougher on pistol-toting Texans.

Police Chief Carl Shuptrine, alarmed at the 61 fatal shootings in Houston this year, said all defendants involved in shooting where someone is wounded or killed, also will be charged with illegally carrying a gun.

"In the past, we have filed only the more serious charge—murder or assault to murder, but too many defendants go scot free" when the grand jury refuses to indict them, he said.

TALK ABOUT ECONOMY...

FORDS COST LESS PER MILE!

Fords cost less to buy!

No doubt about it! Model for model, right across the board, Ford cars are the lowest priced* of the low-price three. And don't be fooled by those "low prices" now being quoted for some "stripped down" models in the medium-price field. Remember, a '57 Ford equipped the way most people want a car today—with automatic transmission, heater and radio—costs hundreds of dollars less than these medium-priced cars, similarly equipped.* Any way you look at it, Fords cost less to buy.

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices.

Fords cost less to run!

In the only nationally recognized test of gasoline economy, the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Six delivered more miles per gallon than any other car entered! This, remember, was no "private test" conducted for the benefit of a single manufacturer. This was grueling competition between 12 different makes of cars, 24 cars in all . . . supervised every mile of the way by officials of the United States Auto Club. And when the rugged 1568-mile test was over, Ford led all other cars regardless of size, weight or price in the thing you want most—actual miles per gallon!

Fords cost less to trade!

Latest official auction sale figures on used cars show clearly that the new kind of Ford commands a higher price than either of its two low-priced competitors. The men who bid at these auctions are professional buyers—men whose very livelihood depends upon their expert knowledge of cars. They pay more for used Fords because they know that Fords hold up in value. Like thousands of Ford owners from coast to coast, they have discovered that Ford is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it, too!

The reason it's so good, farmers will tell you, is that you get to eat it before the heat of the day turns the corn sugars into starch...and before the flavor fades. Our buyers insist that our corn be picked in the cool morning hours, while the dew is still on the tassel. After a thorough chilling, it's packed in chipped ice and whizzed on to us. You'll find it in our produce section...sweet, tender, juicy. For the finest in all produce, every time...all you need to remember is SAFEWAY.
